

Dr. Christos A. Makridis

Dr. Christos A. Makridis is an associate research professor at Arizona State University and senior researcher at Gallup. In addition, he holds academic appointments at Stanford University, the Vienna Complexity Science Hub, and Baylor University, as well as a term membership on the Council on Foreign Relations.

Dr. Makridis formerly served on the National AI Institute in the Department of Veterans Affairs and on the Council of Economic Advisers in the White House.

He has published over 120 scientific articles in economics, finance, and social science journals. His doctorates are in economics and management science & engineering from Stanford University.